Families will appreciate proximity to top-rated schools including the GATE and Science programs, while Glenmore Landing offers nearby shops and restaurants, and Rockyview Hospital adds everyday convenience. The location alone makes this a rare inner-city offering. Renowned designer Sally Healy guided the redesign and curated the interior finishings, elevating the home with timeless character and thoughtful function. The exterior features classic brick and cedar, a tile roof, and a spacious stone-coated back deck overlooking the park. Inside, rich Merbau site-finished hardwood floors lead through an elegant and welcoming layout. The gourmet kitchen impresses with a paneled Sub-Zero refrigerator, Thermador induction cooktop and double ovens, Bosch dishwasher, and built-in slide-door microwave. Custom maple cabinetry, titanium granite countertops, glass-tile backsplash, and Hicks pendant lighting complete the space. Expansive windows capture tranquil park views and flood the living and dining areas with light, while marble-surround fireplaces create warm, sophisticated gathering spaces. Upstairs, four spacious bedrooms offer privacy and comfort. The primary retreat features breathtaking park views, a spa-inspired ensuite with heated marble floors, Neptune jetted tub, Grohe rain shower with multiple heads, double sinks, and a grand walk-in closet with a central makeup station and "his and hers" sections. A second bedroom includes its own three-piece ensuite and walk-in closet—perfect for children, guests, or extended family. The third bedroom also features a walk-in closet, while the fourth is currently styled as a home office. A five-piece main bathroom and double linen closet complete the upper level. The fully finished lower level offers a warm, versatile space with plush Shaw carpeting, a cozy fireplace, and upgraded electrical for a future home theatre or arcade setup. Custom cabinetry is already roughed in for a wet bar, offering flexibility for future customization and entertaining.
